

Election In Anson, Hindon & Minden

A nomination was held in Minden on the afternoon of Friday, November 25 for the purpose of selecting a reeve, deputy reeve, council and school board who will for the next two years have charge of the operation of municipal and educational affairs within the township.

Despite the fact that a small number of ratepayers were on hand, the interest of those there was very keen and they were treated to a spirited exchange of views between Messrs. Walter Noice and Lawrence Pritchard regarding the present low water levels.

After nominations clerk Gordon Bibby was asked to act as chairman.

The first speaker was the retiring reeve, Fred Brooks, who stated that he was not in the running this year but thanked the electors who had supported him in the past.

The chairman then called on Mr. L. A. Pritchard who gave a report of the present finances of the municipality which showed that the municipality would have a deficit of nearly $4,000.

This was not the fault of the council, said the speaker, but rather the fact that the Ontario Municipal Board saw fit to reduce the assessment in Cardiff township which meant the rest of the municipalities had to take up the slack—the township of Anson, Hindon and Minden's share being nearly $4,000.

Mr. Pritchard expressed regret that so few of the ratepayers were in attendance despite the fact that this was the fastest developing municipality in the county, and only two members of the fairer sex had taken time out to be present.

The speaker reminded those present that running this municipality was big business and stated that in 1959 total assessment was $651,400 and in 1960 it had risen to $690,625. Total road by-law in 1959 was $46,000 and in 1960 it was $62,500.

Mr. Pritchard said he had just completed 26 years on the township council and in all that time he had never known the roads to be in as good a condition as they were at the present time. He said it was his intention to stand for the office of reeve.

Walter Noice, at the outset of his remarks, announced his intention of standing for the office of reeve and reminded those present that it was just 50 years ago that his father had been elected to that same office.

The speaker took the present council to task for a "do nothing" policy regarding the critical water situation that had developed in Minden over the past few months.

"Water," said Mr. Noice, "is the most essential thing that the human being needs. At present the Gull River is unsightly, smelly and certainly unfit to drink."

While nothing has been done, said the speaker, something could be done and he recalled that when he was editor of the Haliburton County News a similar situation had arose and through the editorials in the paper the powers that be had been prodded into taking action.

"Are we going to stand by and see our lakes and rivers drained dry so that some millionaire can sail his private yacht up and down the Trent Canal," asked the speaker.

Mr. Noice asked if our waters became polluted, which could easily happen under present circumstances, what will happen to our tourist industry. In Minden, said the speaker, many people were dependent on the Gull River for their water supply and if the freeze up came with the low level, there would be many people without water this winter.

In reply Mr. Pritchard said council had taken action in the matter but if they succeeded in having the water raised there was always the possibility of the township being sued by cottagers or others who would claim flood damages.

Mr. Noice replied that the waters were so low that the insertion of a couple of stop logs could not cause anyone to suffer property damage by flooding.

Charles Brandon, who was acclaimed deputy reeve after thanking the electors, for the honor, stated of hearing that the function of a municipal council was to provide service to the ratepayers at cost.

Mr. Brandon said Minden needed two things—a factory and waterworks, and advised the setting up of an industrial committee to attract industry to Minden. The speaker went into the waterworks system stating that such a project would cost the village of Minden around $140,000 which payments would be spread out over 30 years and said the cost of meeting debentures and maintenance would run to $14,000 annually. It was the opinion of the speaker that Dr. Berry of the Dept. of Health should be invited to address a public meeting on the subject.

Reg. Hicks, candidate for council, said that he had enjoyed representing the people in this capacity over the past two years and spoke of what had been accomplished especially on roads. The speaker also referred to the problems encountered in the operation of the various dumps in the municipality.

Mr. Hicks announced his intention of again being a candidate.

Mr. Frank Waters, speaking for the school area board made mention of the new five room school to be constructed in Minden at a cost of $100,000 and referred to the trend towards graded schools. At present only 8% of the pupils enrolled in the province of Ontario are attending one room schools.

Everett Burke, who announced that he would again be a candidate for the school board and spoke of the difficulty in obtaining suitable teachers for one room schools.

Lorne Coburn of the school board reminded us that 50%

Dysart Nomination Meeting

An exceptionally large turnout of electors turned out for the nomination meeting held in the Canadian Legion hall on Friday evening last to select members for a council and school board.

As we have stated before things have been very quiet on the municipal front. This was borne out at the nomination meeting which, despite a question period, heard no criticism of the council whatever.

When nominations closed Holly Sisson was acclaimed as reeve, Roy Brohm as deputy reeve, R. J. Bishop Sr. as councillor for ward I and it was first thought that Christie Cowen might be opposed in ward II but he has also been returned by acclamation.

The only contest for a seat on the council is in ward III where Mrs. Rita Henderson and Orval Morrison are battling it out for the seat.

of our tax dollar went toward the maintenance of our public and county high schools and explained the delay in tenders on the new five-room school in Minden, but owing to improved grants we would be able to secure a five room school for fewer taxation dollars than a four room school.

J. O. Jackson, who has decided to stand for a seat on the council, remarked that he had often noticed in church how many people, especially the early comers, slipped into the rear seats. He felt that many were all too prone to sit back. If he was successful in obtaining a seat on the council, his sole concern would be to serve the ratepayers.

Reg Booth said it was 10 years ago that he had been on council left vacant by the retirement of councillor Earl Cooper.

It might be explained here that outside of ward III electors will have no vote as far as council is concerned but throughout the municipality the polls will be open as there is on contest for the three seats on the Dysart township school board. This board is responsible for the spending of about 40% of your tax dollar so you should register your vote in order to secure the best administration possible of our educational affairs. Remember four are in the running, but you only vote for three.

The reeve, deputy reeve and councillors were highly pleased at the honor accorded them. It's always nice to know that your work is appreciated, especially on municipal bodies.

Holly Sisson stated it had been a real privilege to have served as reeve of this municipality and thanked the ratepayers who had again saw fit to have him serve in this capacity.

Reeve Sisson explained to the electors the details in regard to the decision of the Ontario Municipal Board to reduce the assessment in the Cardiff improvement area which meant that Dysart was assessed the sum of $6,000 as their share of the $17,000 that had to be made up by county council when their appeal against this reduction of assessment was lost.

Roy Brohm thanked his sponsors and the ratepayers for the privilege of again serving them as deputy reeve. This municipality has had a banner year, said the speaker, and he gave it as his opinion that the money had been equitably distributed. The deputy reeve said there had been no "under the table deals" and felt that the council of the past year had given the ratepayers good administration.

Christie Cowen said that during the past year the council had made excellent progress. This was only made possible, said the speaker, by the co-operation of all the members.

R. J. Bishop Sr., who had received his second acclamation to the council, assured the ratepayers that he would

Election In Stanhope

A well attended nomination meeting was held in Stanhope township on Friday evening last and while the school board comprised of Wilfred Mason, Clarence Redner and Elvin Johnson were elected by acclamation, as was Alex Hewitt, deputy reeve, there is to be a contest for reeve and council.

Standing for reeve are Messrs. Fred H. Brook, Clayton P. Rogers and Gordon Sawyer.

Those who qualified for council were John N. Broderick, William Cowen, Richard Hewitt, Allan Sisson and Gordon C. Stiver.

not let it go to his head. The councillor stated that working collectively with the council, he was this year capable of making a better contribution to the municipality as he had a year of experience behind him.

Councillor Earl Cooper informed the ratepayers that he would not be a candidate for a seat on next year's council. He stated that it was a pleasure to work with the members of council during the past year and due to the co-operation of all members of this body, much had been accomplished.

In the absence of James Cooper, chairman of the school area board, Mr. Bruce Henry gave a detailed report of what had been accomplished. He said the board had considered the closing of the Donald school, it being felt that pupils would benefit by being in a graded school. However, stiff opposition by the residents of Donald to this move had resulted in the board abandoning the idea and they had made improvements to said school. The speaker stated that caretakers were now on a full time basis and insurance had been taken out to cover vandalism in the schools.

Mr. Ernest Warren stated he had had the privilege of serving as member of the school board for the past eight years and if the electors saw fit he would be pleased to continue.

Mrs. Plourde, who has just completed her first year as a member of the board said she had been pleased to serve in this capacity with the capable businessmen who are administering our school affairs.

Ask these questions when you're buying a truck:

What's the best size for a truck? A truck should only be as big as the job it has to do. Any bigger and delivery costs skyrocket. The Volkswagen truck doesn't waste an inch or an ounce on useless space. It carries a full 170 cubic feet of load and has near perfect weight-to-payload ratio.

What's the most economical truck to run? The one that delivers the most goods for the lowest cost. Volkswagen's delivery van has a far greater capacity than a standard half-ton truck yet it costs much less to run. No other truck can say this.

Which truck is easiest to load? The truck that's all doors—Volkswagen. The VW is the only truck with side and rear doors as standard equipment. You can walk right in through the double side doors from the curb; or load and unload through the rear door. Delivery time is cut down.

What's the best 'engineered' truck? The one with the most sensible design. The Volkswagen delivery van has an all-steel, all-welded unitized body that provides extra strength without excess weight. The air cooled engine makes maximum use of aluminum and magnesium alloys and weighs only 198 lbs. Weight is evenly distributed throughout the truck. The driver up front, the engine in the rear and the load where it should be, cradled between the axles.

Which truck has the best Service Plan? Volkswagen by far. When you buy a VW truck you get a 6 month, or 6,000 mile, parts and labour warranty. You also get a service book that starts you off with two free inspections and then provides for preventive maintenance on a planned basis for the life of the vehicle.

BANK OF MONTREAL REPORTS—

Bank of Montreal resources reached a new high during 1960 and new records were set in almost every phase of the bank's operations, according to its 143rd annual statement for the year ended October 31, issued today.

B of M assets rose more than $225 million to $3,485 million during the year, while loans in all categories maintained the 1959 peak of $1,773 million.

Total deposits were shown at $3,200 million, an increase of $202 millions, or 6.7%, from 1959, and were the highest in the bank's history. The expansion was largely attributed to Canadian's personal savings and to foreign deposits.

Quick assets of $1,771 million, or $193 million more than a year earlier, reflected the traditionally strong liquid position of the bank. This amount represents almost 54 per cent of all B of M liabilities to the public, against 51.6 % in 1959.

Earnings at Record

Earnings before taxes were at the record figure of $31,578,780. But $17,352,044—equal to 55%—was earmarked for taxes, so that the net profit for the year's operations of more than 840 B of M offices at home and abroad was $14,226,736. This was $2,035,676 more than in 1959.

The bank's 21,000 shareholders are receiving $2 per share—or $12,148,167 of the year's net profit—15 cents more than the 1959 figure of $1.85, and 35 cents more than the $1.65 paid in 1958.

The balance, plus $1,072,290 of undivided profits from 1959, comprised a total of $3,150,859. Of this amount, $2 million was transferred to the rest account, leaving current undivided profits of $1,150,859.

Shareholders' Equity Up

The transfer of $2 million from undivided profits brought the B of M's "rest"—or reserve—account to $141,850,000. This, plus paid-up capital of $60,750,000 and the remaining undivided profits, brought total shareholders' equity to the record figure of $203,750,859.

A sharp increase of more than 18% in the statement's valuation of B of M premises—from $47 million in 1959 to more than $55 million—reflected completion of the bank's new head-office building in Montreal, as well as the continuing rapid pace of branch extension and modernization.

MINDEN W.I.

The Minden W.I. met November 16 at the home of Mrs. Wm. Cox with 20 members present.

After opening exercises conducted by the president, Mrs. E. Harding, the roll call was answered by "What you would ask of your municipal council" and brought some thought provoking answer.

The treasurer reported $118.65 on hand.

Mrs. Wm. Welch, convenor of visiting and cards to shut ins read several notes of thankful appreciation and reported $12.50 on hand.

A request from the Lindsay hospital re: selling tickets on the "dolls" project resulted in the decision to send a donation of $25 instead of selling tickets.

Invitations to attend meetings of the Dept. of Agriculture in Lindsay and a work shop meeting for standing committees in Cameron were hopefully left for possible delegates.

Mrs. Harding suggested the placing of wreaths on the graves of deceased members. As we learn of a project being considered by the St. Paul's church to have our cemetery re-seeded and a sprinkling outfit installed next spring, we decided to leave this until then.

Prizes donated for the winter's card parties, which will begin in the home of Mrs. H. Welch in January are to be left with Mrs. Harding.

Mrs. Walker's paper on Current Events was very interesting and covered the outstanding developments in our area during 1960.

Mrs. Arthur Noice presented her delegates report of the area convention. This was packed with good advice to the branches and chock full of enthusiasm. We are fortunate in having splendid delegates who bring home to us the inspiration of the best leaders of the W.I.

Mrs. Noice's report covered the three day convention to one half was left for our next meeting which will be our Christmas meeting with exchange of gifts and the promise of a showing of colored slides of our beautiful county by Mr. Vern Graham.

After the singing of "The Queen," a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses and a social half hour enjoyed.

LACTOL is a carefully formulated emulsion of rich oils and other ingredients designed to replace precious fats and moisture lost through deficiencies in diet, use of household and industrial chemicals, and other causes of brittle and splitting nails. by NILA REYNOLDS
A HISTORY OF HALIBURTON

Twenty-First Instalment Chapter 10 WITH TRAP AND GUN (Continued from last week)

There are a thousand accounts, amusing and otherwise, of encounters between ranger and trapper in those years when illicit poaching in Algonquin Park was as common and regular as apple blossoms in spring time.

One of the most daring concerns a well known veteran of otter slide and beaver pond who has crossed the Last Portage. It occurred the year that a new fad in footwear for bush and camp was introduced called Blue Larrigans. Made of elkskin, these boots were supposed to be completely waterproof and in general the most satisfactory boots that an outdoor man ever slipped his insoles into.

Like many another product before and since, they did not measure up to the claims of their sales promoter. Before they even reached the park's boundaries, the unfortunate trappers who had been sweet talked into investing in Blue Larrigans had cause to wish their new boots back in the factory or better still on their salesman's feet during a flood. Instead of keeping moisture out they absorbed water like thirsty sponges.

As they neared their destination the hero of the story and his companion crossed the trail of two rangers who they followed until sundown. The shivering trappers watched from hiding as the unsuspecting rangers pitched their camp and prepared a leisurely meal over a roaring camp fire. After the government men enjoyed several games of cards the trappers vigil was rewarded when the more fortunate ones removed two excellent pairs of boots and placed them beside the fire before crawling into their blankets. As soon as the rangers fell into the sleep that only comes to the exhausted and the just, the waiting trapper and his companion tip toed up to the fire where they removed their useless footwear and exchanged it for the rangers fine shoe packs.

To stall pursuit, the trappers paddled their opponents canoe to a nearby island before evaporating into the darkness, well shod once more. The life of a park ranger was never an easy one, especially when he crossed trails with a Haliburton trapper.

It would be wrong to assume that the trappers were never caught and punished. Isaac Boice, whose life was devoted to the way of the wilderness was arrested three times, the last when he was nearing his 70th birthday and handicapped by failing sight. Shortly after he was stricken with a heart attack while working his trap line at Kennisis. He might have died alone in the bush had not Durland Redner and a companion found him in a helpless condition and paddled him home to receive medical aid. He died not long after.

By an odd coincidence in later years Durland Redner was himself overcome while in the same region and had to be assisted home by two other passing trappers.

Trapping was more than just a way of earning a living. To real devotees like Boice and Redner it was a second religion promising freedom and happiness found in no other way of life. The siren call of the wilderness exerted a spell which could not be quenched by even the approach of the grim reaper. The problem of stopping the inroads which wholesale poaching was making on the park's animal population kept more than one government official burning the midnight oil. One of their most successful captures was made by a young game warden, hitherto unknown in the Haliburton region. Posing as a fur buyer, this smooth talking government agent actually conned the wily trappers into bringing forth, for his inspection, their season's catch from the hay mows and attics where it had been hidden. He guilefully offered a higher price than could be obtained anywhere else but stalled the pay off by explaining, "I'll take it boys but I can't pick it up until I've finished my rounds."

When he had covered the whole territory and gathered all the evidence needed for convictions he returned to pick up the fur on behalf of the Ontario government. The cupboard was bare in many a trapper's cabin that season.

Intermittently the poaching continued until the 1930's when the country wide depression stepped up its tempo to such an extent that the ranger staff was increased to 40 men. In the fall of 1936 poaching in the Dorset-Haliburton region received its death blow. Eight trappers were apprehended with illegal furs in their possession. Here is a newspaper clipping which covers the event:

"Eight men, residents of Haliburton county, appeared before Magistrate McCurry at North Bay court last Tuesday and were fined a total of $2,060 or in lieu of payment, considerable terms in gaol. They had been charged with trapping and hunting illegally in Algonquin Park and also with having in their possession 46 beaver skins, one otter and 12 martin. For each animal a fine of $20 was levied or one month in gaol. In each case, the possession of the pelt was regarded as a separate count. For trapping and hunting illegally in the park six were fined $10 and costs or one month. Two members were fined $10 and costs or one month for having firearms in the park illegally. Further charges of assaulting police officers and resisting arrest against four men and nine theft charges against two others were remanded until December 1. A further charge of having a revolver not legally registered was also remanded until the same date. The value of the fur seized is estimated to be worth around $3,000. It is expected that all fines will be paid. In two cases the taking of 37 beaver pelts, the fine was $740 or 37 months in gaol."

Following the wholesale arrest, illegal activity of this kind from the Haliburton area decreased until it was no longer a conservation hazard. It ended when the Department of lands and Forests wisely set up their trap line zoning plan which has redeemed the trapping industry in Haliburton county and elsewhere.

Just this year a trapper who once plied his paddle on the park's waterways 22 years ago revisited the scene of his former adventures as a legitimate tourist. On his last trip he had cached 21 traps in a hollow stump on a big rock. Although the face of the land had changed somewhat, after a lengthy search he located the rock. The stump was gone but a new tree had sprung from its roots. Scrabbling at its base he found his 21 traps.

from the eviction of long term trappers from the Algonquin Park and the illegal poaching which the government's own trapping program aroused, are beginning to heal. The scar tissue is there but it is healthy. The descendants of yesterday's poachers have become the conservationists of today.

Time itself has vindicated the judgement and policy of Alexander Kirkwood and James Dickson. Truly the Algonquin Park which they founded is a monument which has not crumbled or decayed.

No one, who has ever tasted the grandeur of its spectacular scenery or thrilled at the sight of a doe and her fawn standing beside the highway unafraid, can help but bless their memory which is cherished in the warmest corner of a million thankful hearts.

first elected to council and he could recall the criticism he had received for advocating the securing of a full time clerk and the opposition that occurred when a new fire truck was being considered. "Would we want to do without the services of a full time clerk or our fire truck today?" asked the speaker.

Bob Harvey, who was a member of the council for the past two years, gave an account of his stewardship over that period and presented a review of the accomplishments which included considerable improvement insofar as roads were concerned. Mr. Harvey stated that he had enjoyed serving on the council and would be pleased to do so again if the ratepayers so desired.

Mr. Frank Welch reminded those present that many of the problems which had been discussed had confronted past councils, but he had no doubt these problems would be met and dealt with in a satisfactory manner.

Mr. Welch, who was nominated for both council and school board, stated he was undecided as to whether he would let his name stand for either of these positions.

Alex Hewitt and Clayton Rogers both spoke briefly and congratulated council on the condition of the roads in the municipality.
